

I CLAIM:

1. A new and distinct cultivar of Hemerocallis plant having the following combination of characteristics:

- (a) forms attractive bright flesh pink flowers with a dark purple eye and a picotee edge having substantial substance and a recurved funnel form,
- (b) possesses a long blooming season with multiple repeat blooming,
- (c) exhibits a propensity to readily display a plurality of fans, and
- (d) readily forms a plurality of scapes per fan over the flowering season;

substantially as illustrated and described.